“Heaven on earth unexplored”

Truly set amidst the hills and valleys of Western Ghats. The resort merges with the ambience and nature surrounding it with its earthly features and fabulous design. Probably has not explored its natural surroundings well especially the hillocks behind it. A one day trekking expedition to the top of the hillock from 970masl to 1700masl covering a distance of 4-5km was a mind blowing experience in terms of all round view, birds, animals and the orchids hanging down from trees at that elevation. Did the trek with my wife and daughter along with 2 guides from the resort and the local forest guard. We sighted sambar deer, giant squirrel and could also see lot of chital kill remains possibly by wild dogs, around a beautiful lake/waterbody nestled on a flat meadow when you reach the hillock and cross over to the other side. took only 4 hrs for the climb and descend took another 3 hrs. Went exploring into the shola forests beyond the lake at the top and was greeted by thousands of leches as soon as we entered the forest on the other side from the grassy meadow which incidentally is ideal for picnicking .

Not for the faint hearted this one though as the route is slippery and infested with leeches, but the view as you trek for another 2-3km to pollapara hillock at 1760m.asl is again awesome.
