Guest Say!

"Extraordinary service"

My wife and I recently spent two nights here with our nephew and his two young children. The facility is very comfortable as well as being quite interesting in its ecological bent. The food was quite good and plentiful, and the tours of the waterfall, tea plantation and the indigenous village were a nice touch, but the exceptional feature of Banasura is the staff. With two western youngsters who weren't particularly fond of spicy food, they made sure the kitchen had things the kids would like as well as a wide variety of local dishes for the adults. Toward the end of the stay we had a crisis back in the States to deal with and again, the staff were great - particularly Swapna who went out of her way to help us deal with the situation. I can't begin to thank her and everyone there enough.
